GKGSA Draft Rules & Regulations Comments

The only comment I can submit at this time is that more time is needed for multitasking farmers and others to review the revised draft R & Rs in order to make informed comments

The new water year will be here soon but it is important that the adopted R & Rs are at least understood and hopefully not subject to challenge or a source of discontent for those affected. So far I have been able to only read about one third into the draft. Bet most farmers have not found time to open it. have not even
