The screenshot shows a web application interface for managing APNs. At the top, there is a navigation bar with a water drop icon, links for 'Water Available', 'Transfer Request Dashboard', and 'Manage APNs' (which is highlighted), and a user profile 'Stephanie Ruiz' with a dropdown arrow.

Below the navigation bar, a message states: 'You can add and manage your APNs below. When done you can continue to use the site.'

A section titled 'Your APNs' with a subtext 'These are your existing APNs' is shown. Below this is a table with the following headers: 'APN', 'SUSTAINABLE SUPPLY', 'TIER ONE SUPPLY', 'TIER TWO SUPPLY', 'STATUS', and 'FOR SALE'. This table is currently empty.

A blue banner with a lightbulb icon and the text 'Add more APNs Below' is present, with a subtext 'Click add to save that APN.'

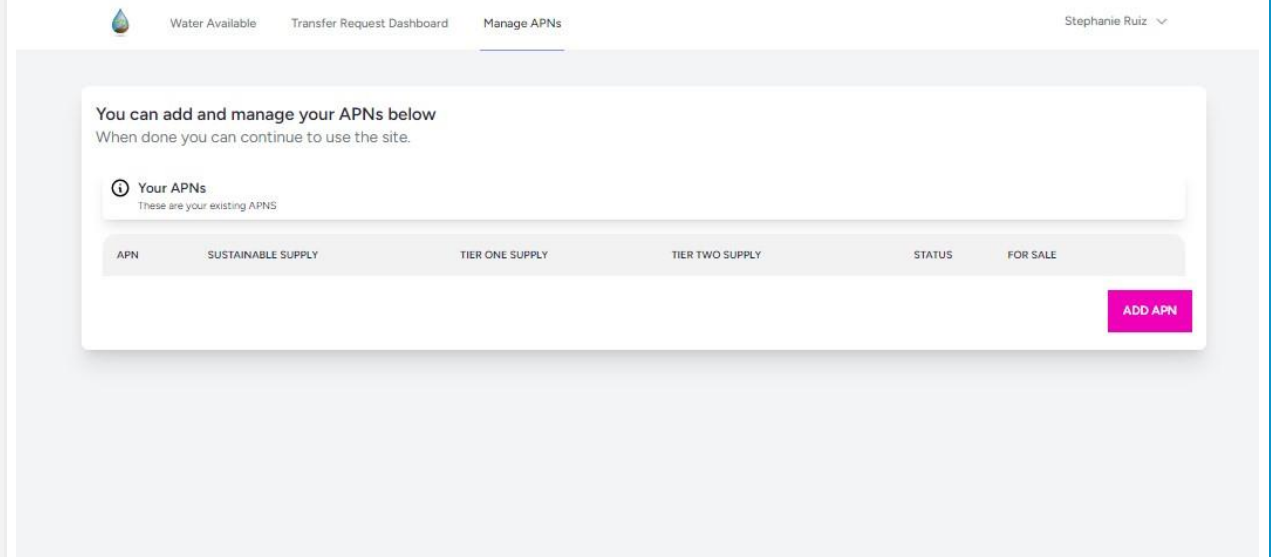

Below the banner, a lightbulb icon and text explain the 'For Sale' status: 'For Sale enables the owner to not sell this water but still be seen with in the distance of the other waters they are looking to buy'.

Below this is another table with the following headers: 'APN', 'SUSTAINABLE YIELD TOTAL AF', 'TIER 1 TOTAL AF', 'TIER 2 TOTAL AF', 'FOR SALE', and an 'ADD' button. The first row contains input fields: an empty 'APN' field, a 'SUSTAINABLE YIELD TOTAL AF' field with the value '0', a 'TIER 1 TOTAL AF' field with the value '0', a 'TIER 2 TOTAL AF' field with the value '0', a 'FOR SALE' field with a checked checkbox, and an 'ADD' button.
